

Rights of a Child

All children have rights

All children have a right to a name.

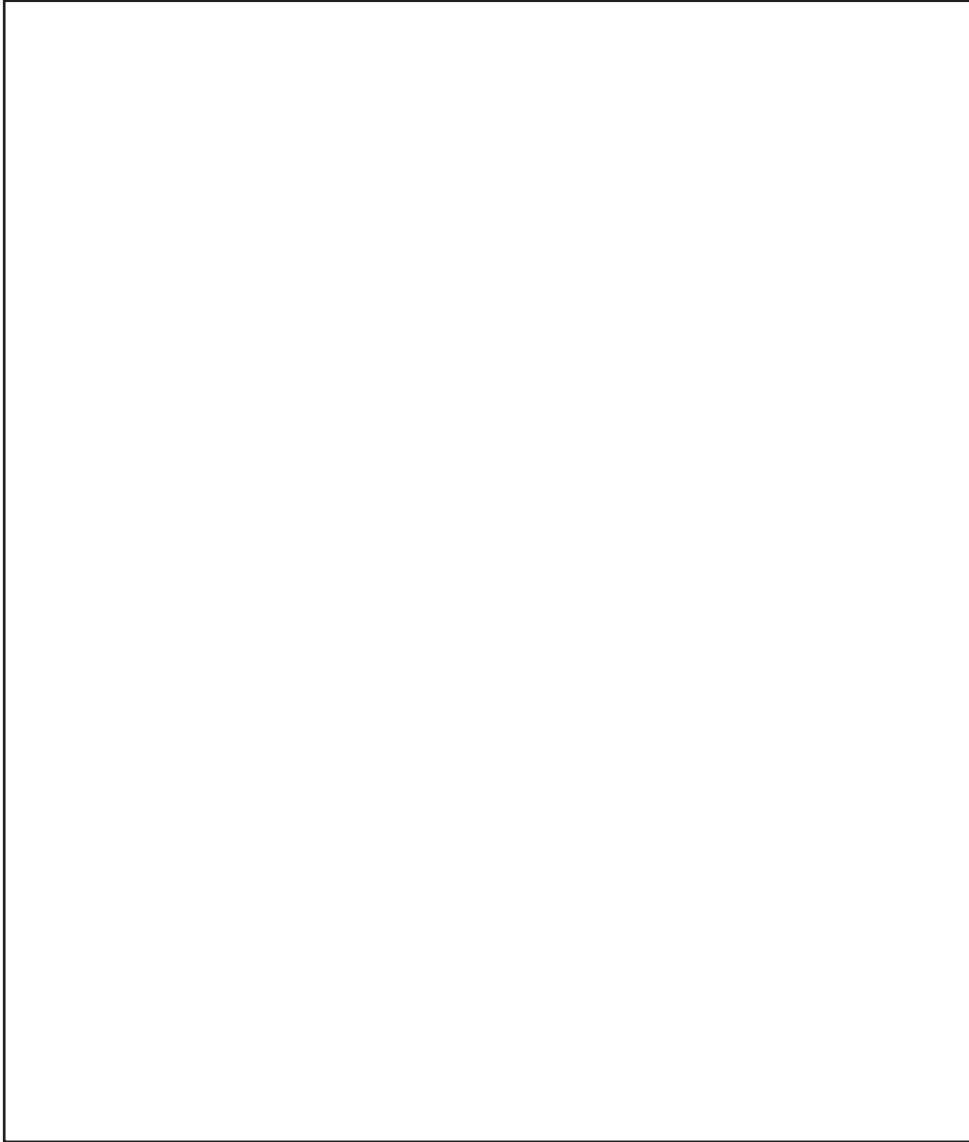

My name is:

A large, empty rectangular box with a thin black border, intended for a child to draw a picture or write something related to their name.

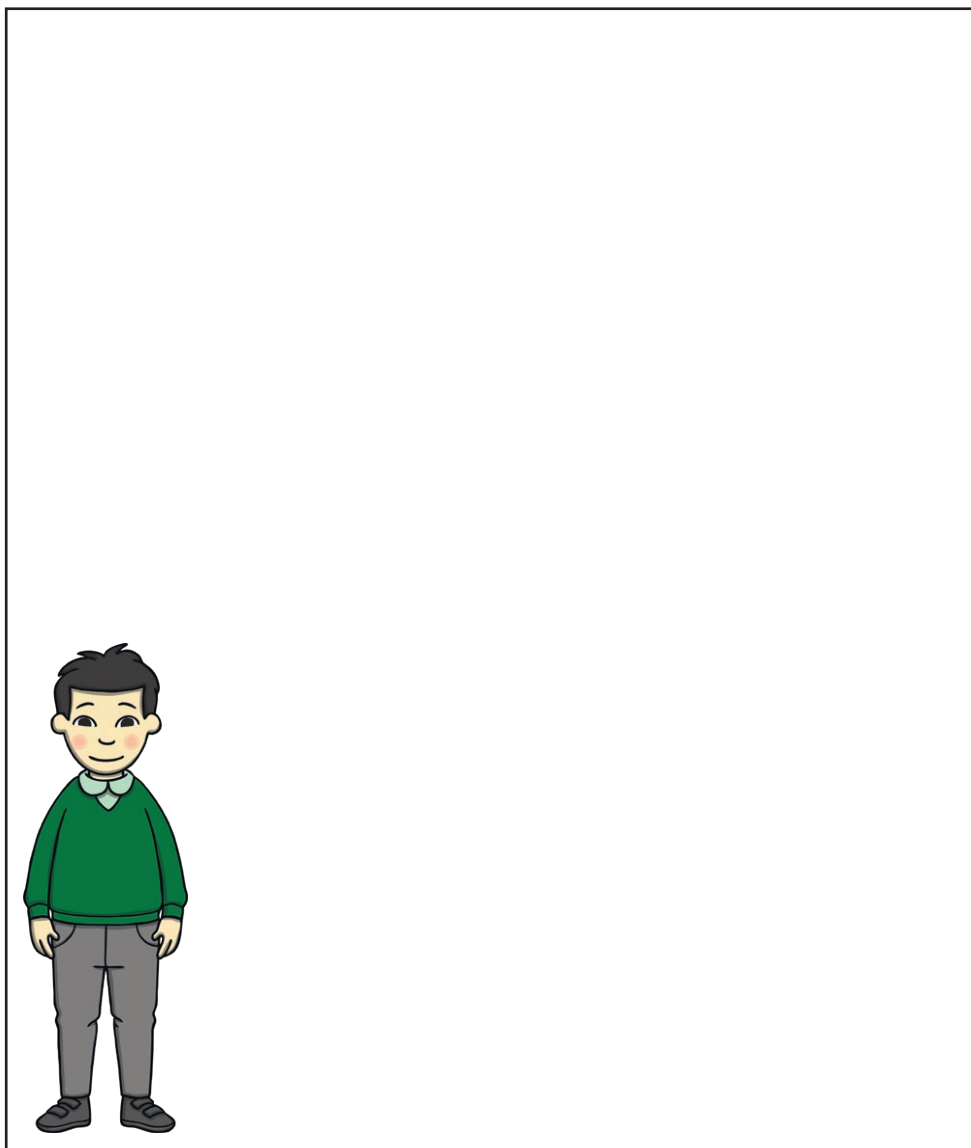

All children are important.

I am also important.

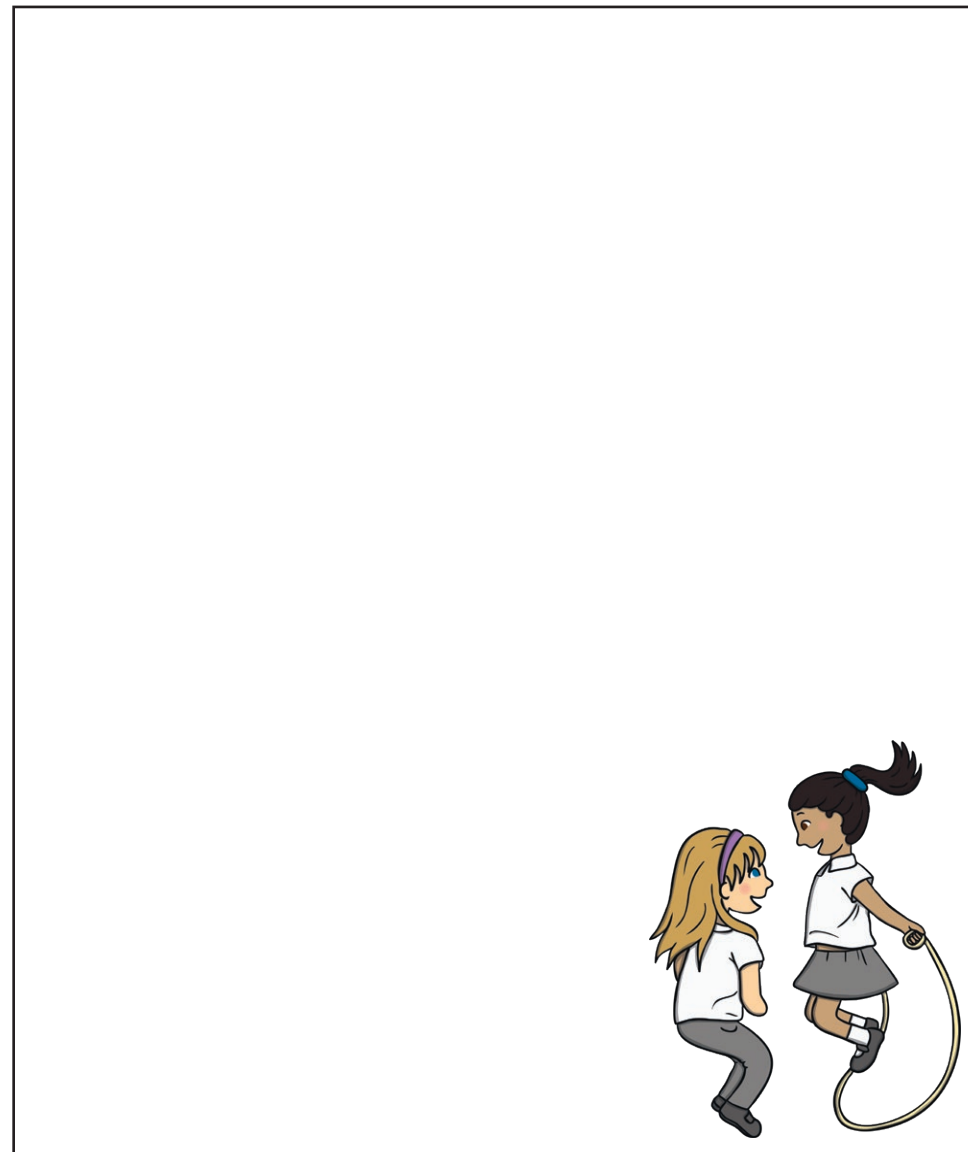

This is me:

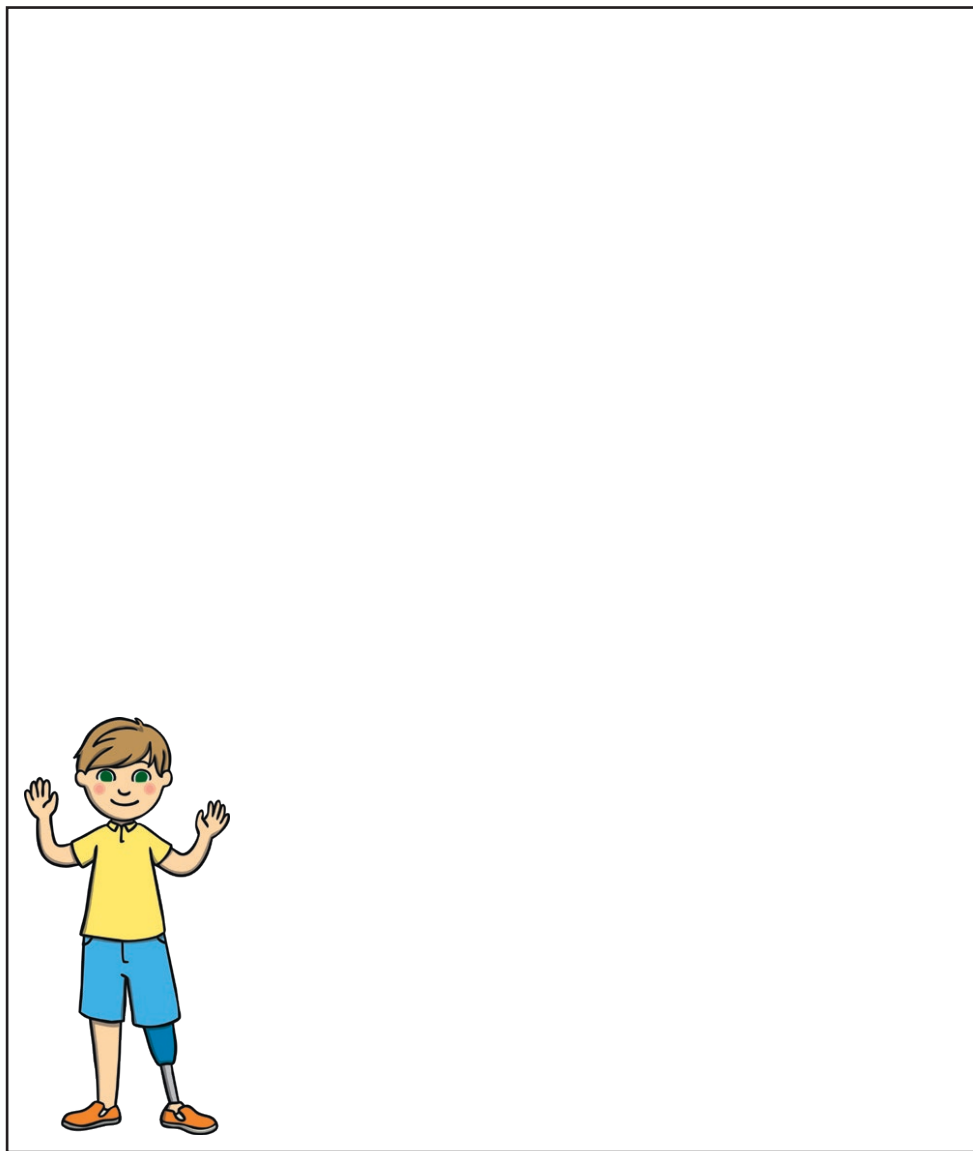

Adults and other children
need to respect my rights.

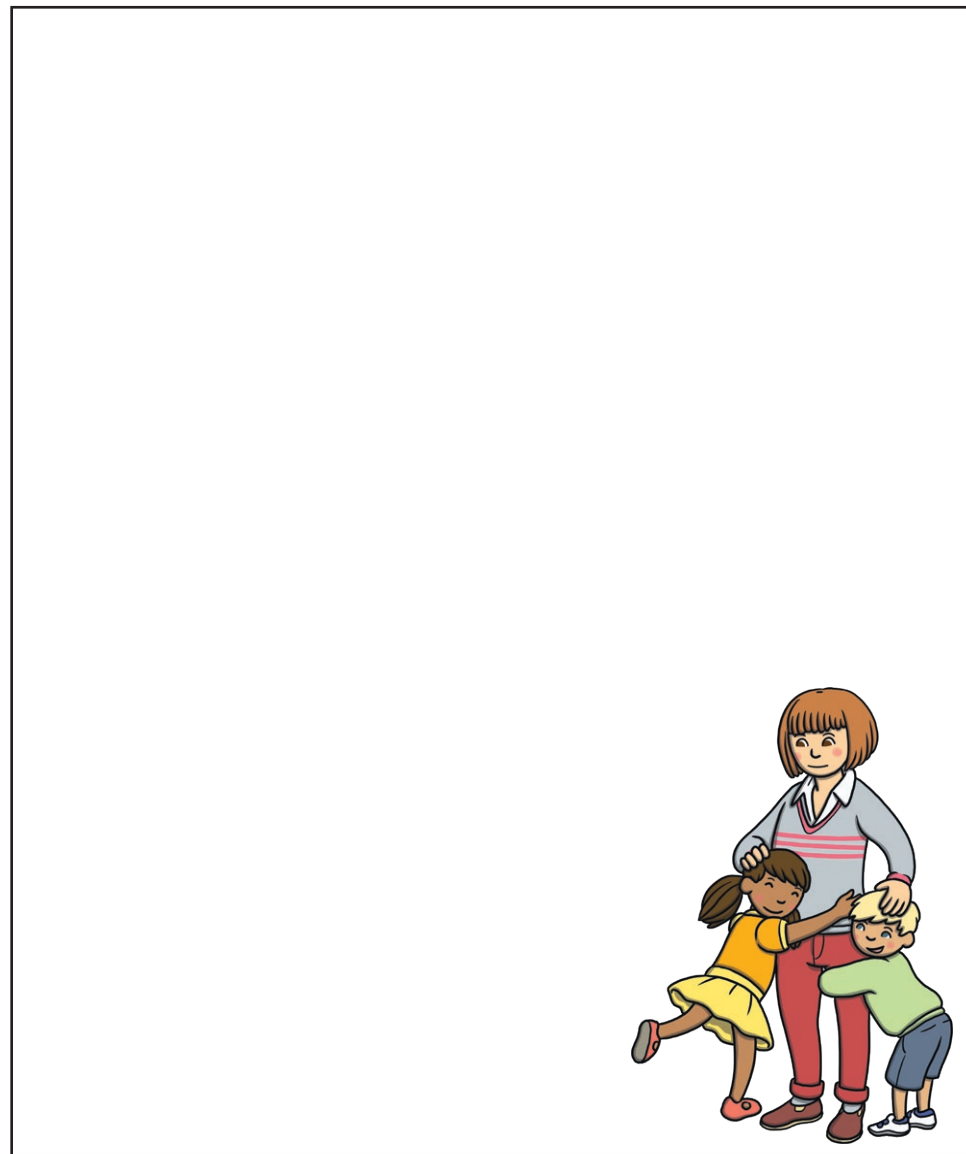

All children have all these rights.

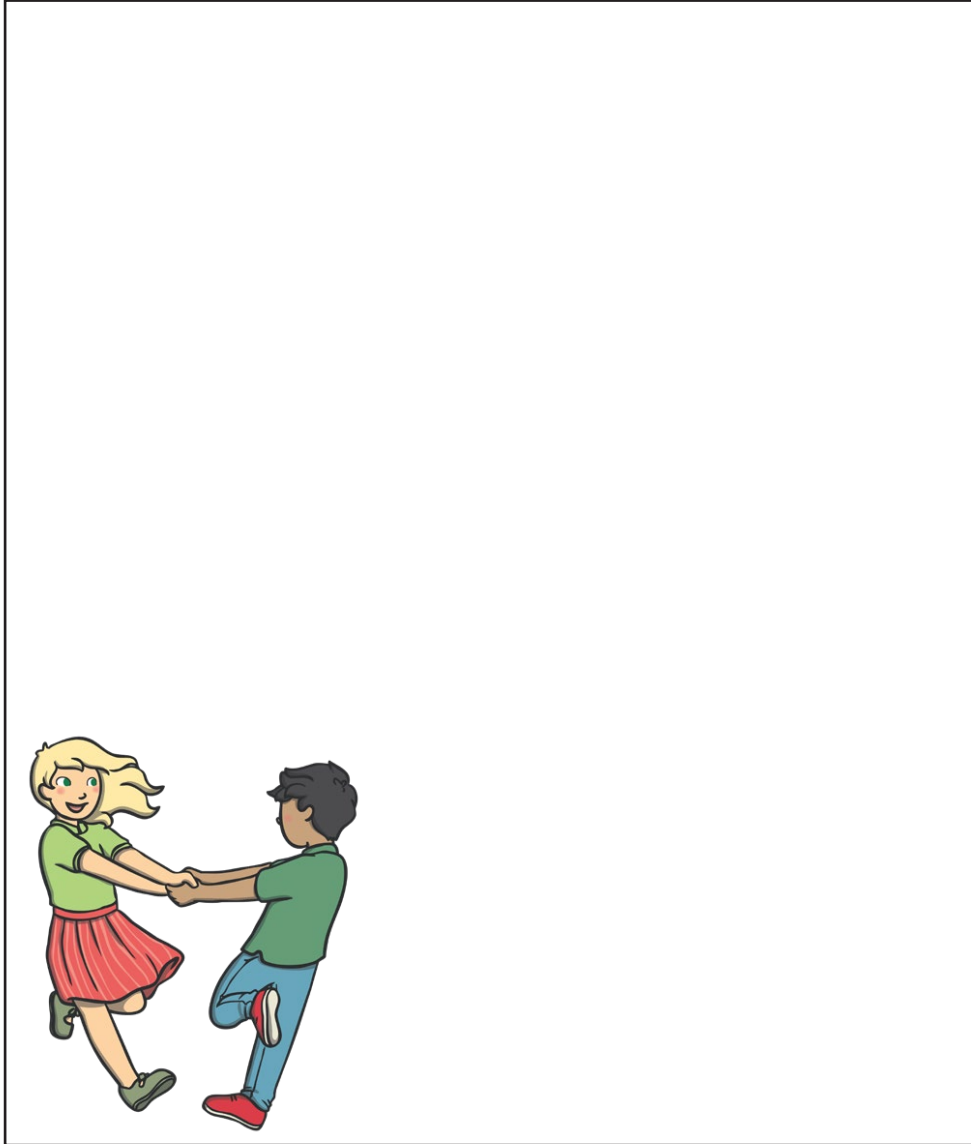

I have all these rights.

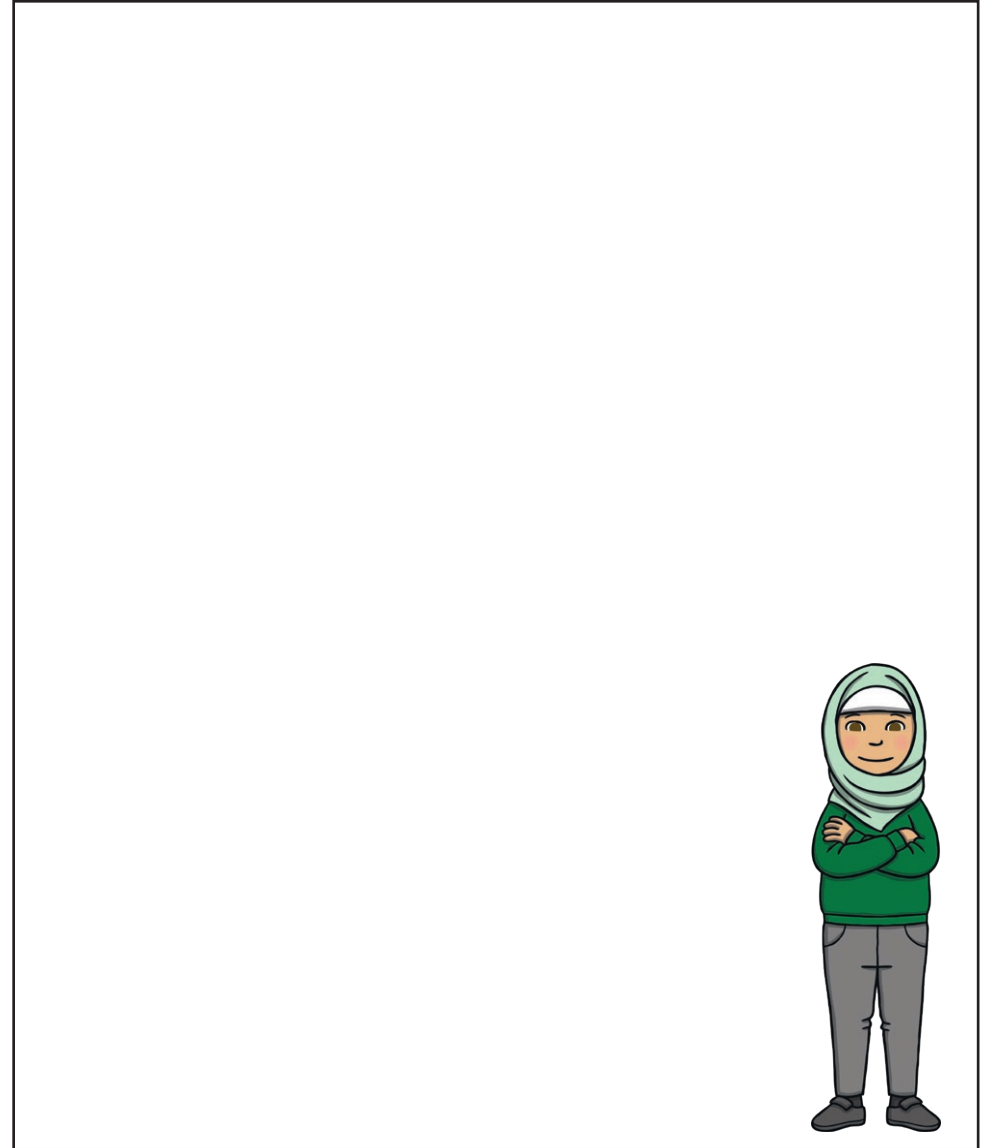

I have the right to be with a family who care for me.

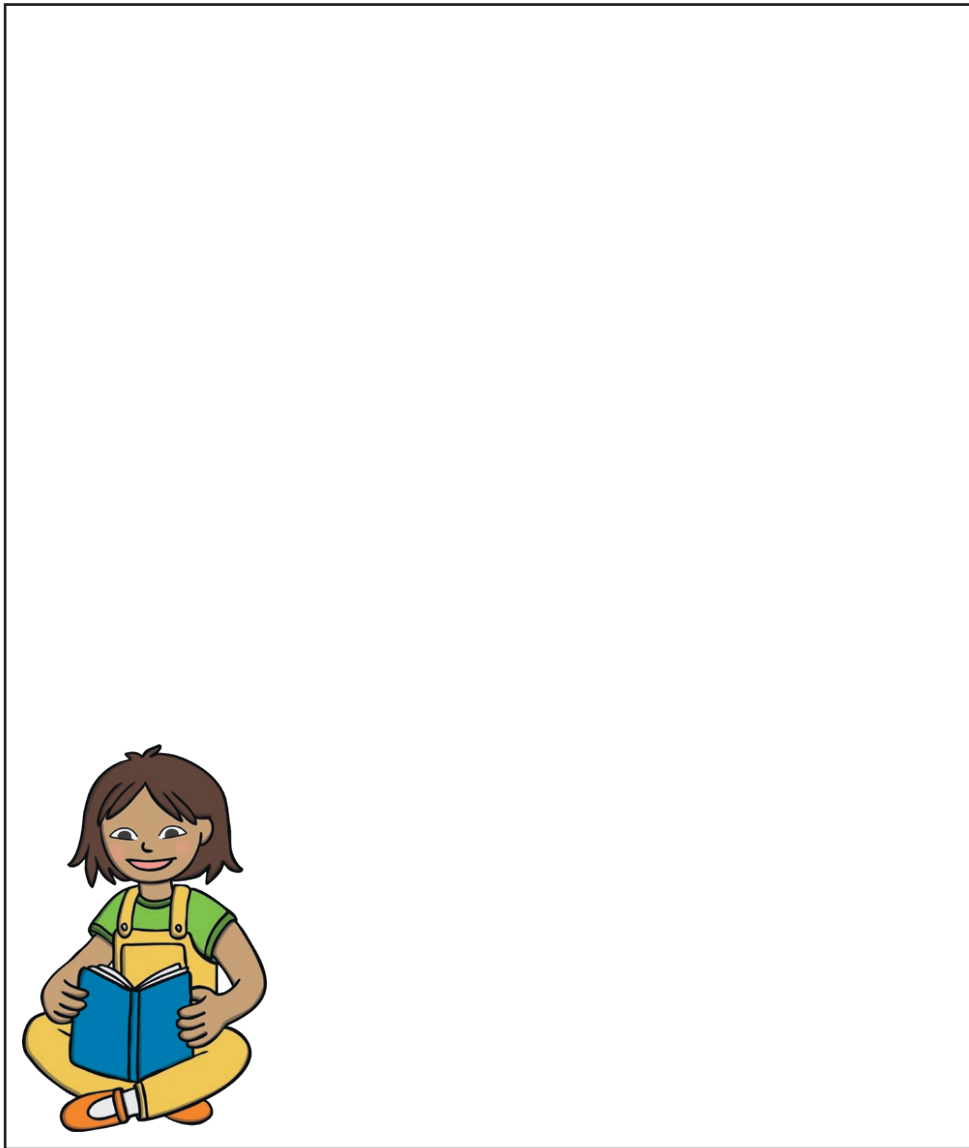

I have the right to a good life.

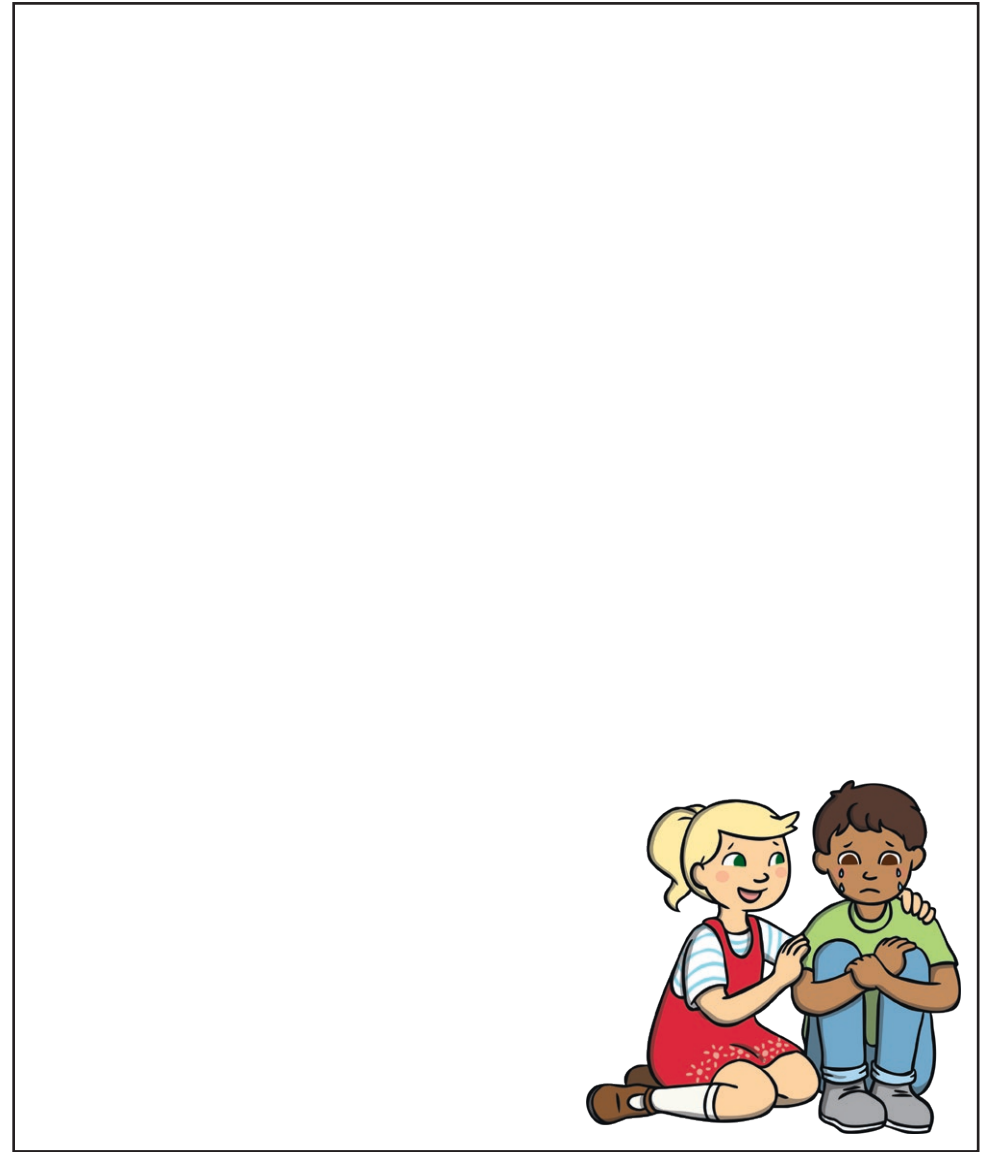

I have the right to feel safe. Nobody is allowed to hurt me or make fun of me.

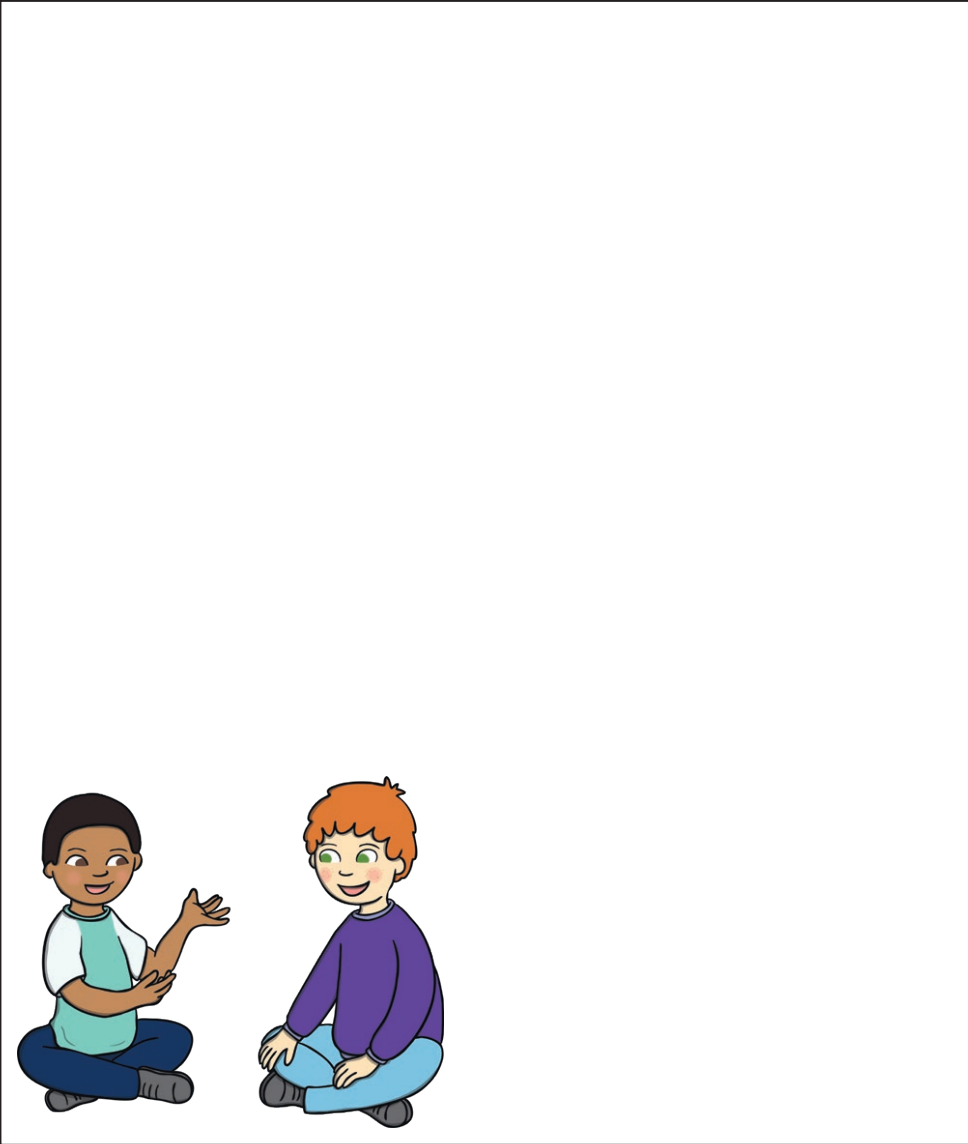

I have the right to learn.

I have the right to get help when I am not well.

I have the right to tell others about my ideas and be listened to.

I have the right to play.
